Canada-Nova Scotia Targeted Housing Benefit (CNSTHB) Renter Guide

The Renter Canada-Nova Scotia Targeted Housing Benefit (CNSTHB) is a monthly benefit that makes paying your rent more affordable.

The Renter CNSTHB is a program that is jointly funded by the Department of Municipal Affairs and Housing (DMAH) and the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) under the National Housing Strategy.

To receive a Renter CNSTHB, you must meet all the eligibility requirements at the time of submitting your application.

What is the Renter CNSTHB?

The Renter CNSTHB is a monthly benefit paid to eligible, low-income applicants who spend at least 50 per cent of their gross income on rent.

Are You Eligible for the Renter CNSTHB?

You must meet all the conditions below to be eligible for the Renter CNSTHB:

- You are a permanent resident of Nova Scotia with status in Canada
- You are currently renting your accommodations
- You or any member of your household are not receiving a rent supplement
- You are considered low-income and spend at least 50% of your gross income, before taxes are taken off, on rent (learn more about income in the section below)
- You or any members of your household do not owe money to the Department of Municipal Affairs and Housing, or to the Nova Scotia Public Housing Agency (former Housing Authority). If you do, that balance must be paid in full, or you must make arrangements to pay the debt before you can be eligible for the benefit.

If you meet these conditions, you may be eligible for the benefit.

Are you or members of your household living in public housing or receiving a rent supplement?

If you or any member of your household already live in public housing, you can apply for the Renter CNSTHB. If approved, you will be eligible to receive the benefit once you have moved out of public housing.

If you or any member of your household is already receiving a rent supplement, you are not eligible for the Renter CNSTHB.

Are You a Student?

If you are a low-income student, you can only receive the Renter CNSTHB if you:

- Have a physical disability and need to stay in your unit because it is accessible for you and that allows you to go to school.

AND/OR

- Are a full-time student with dependents

Is Your Income Eligible?

You must be considered low-income to receive the Renter CNSTHB. That means that your total household income is below the established household income limits.

DMAH sets limits for incomes based on where you live and the size of your household.

DMAH will use the information you give us in your application to determine if your income is eligible. The application will tell you what documents you need to supply to prove your income.

How to Apply for the Renter CNSHTB

1. Visit the Government of Nova Scotia website and download the CNSTHB renter application form and EFT form from this page: <https://housing.novascotia.ca/programs/canada-nova-scotia-targeted-housing-benefit>. You can also call the Housing Supplement team and request to have the forms sent to you by email or post: Call toll free 1-833-424-7711 or 902-424-7711 if calling locally within HRM.
 2. Fill in all required sections. Please print clearly if mailing in an application.
 3. Gather your required documents (such as proof of income, lease agreement, and void cheque).
 4. Sign your application along with your spouse / co-applicant (if you have one). When you sign the application, you are:
 - Declaring that all the information you have provided is true.
 - Giving consent for DMAH to share and verify the information your provided with the Department of Community Services and the Canada Revenue Agency.
 5. Send your completed application and supporting documents to the Housing Supplement team:
 6. Sending by email: Attach your signed application form along with all required documents and submit them as part of one email to housingsupplements@novascotia.ca.
- OR
7. Sending by post: Put the application and all documents in an envelope, buy a stamp and mail the envelope to the address at the top of the application.
 8. If required information is missing, you will be notified and have 3 months to provide the required information, or your case will be closed.

When Do You Need to Apply?

You can apply at any time. However, funding for this program is subject to annual provincial budget approvals and compliance with Bilateral Agreement requirements. The application window for the Renter CNSTHB will close when all renter benefits have been allocated for the fiscal year.

If Your Application is Approved

If your application is approved, you will get a letter outlining your benefit and will receive money every month by electronic funds transfer to help pay your rent. The money will arrive on or before the first of each month.

If you wish, you can request that your Renter CNSTHB go directly to your landlord, trustee, or power of attorney.

You must:

- Live in rental unit with a lease agreement and do not sublet it.
- Pay your rent on time and in full to your landlord every month and follow all the terms and conditions of the lease (Your landlord does not need to know that you are receiving this benefit)
- Provide information required to verify rental and income.
- Provide information on your experience in the program if requested, so we can assess what worked and what, if anything, needs to be changed.

How much will you receive?

The amount you will receive is based on your:

- Household composition (who lives with you, and how many people live with you)
- Total household income and type of income
- Average market rents in the location of your rental unit

The benefit calculations below are examples only. The benefit amount you could receive is dependent on meeting all eligibility requirements and will vary based on your individual circumstances.

How long will you receive it?

Funding for the Renter CNSTHB is subject to annual provincial budget approvals. Recipients must submit an annual renewal application to confirm that they remain eligible for the program. As long as you remain eligible, you will continue receiving the Renter CNSTHB subject to budget availability.

What if your situation changes?

You must notify your local DMAH office of any changes to your living situation, such as the following:

- If you move
 - ~ Your benefit will be recalculated based on the average market rent for your new area.
- If you are not longer renting (purchase a home)
 - ~ You are not longer eligible for a rent supplement.
- If the number of people, you live with changes.
 - ~ Your benefit will be recalculated at your next renewal date based on the average market rent for your area and the number of people in your household.
- If your income changes
 - ~ If your income increases before your annual renewal date, your benefit amount will remain the same until the date of your next review. If your income decreases more than 10 per cent during the year, you may ask that your benefit amount change to reflect your new, lower income. You can only ask for this change once a year.

DMAH can end your Renter CNSTHB if:

- You move out of the province or not consider a resident.
- Your annual review shows that your income has increased, or household composition changed to the point where you are no longer eligible.
- You have been found to have committed or attempted to commit fraud against the Province or provided misleading information.

What happens when the program ends?

The Renter CNSTHB is funded under the National Housing Strategy Bilateral Agreement, which concludes March 31, 2028. Funding for this program is subject to annual provincial budget approvals and compliance with Bilateral Agreement requirements. You will be contacted 6 months before the program ends and told of any new programs and services that may be available at that time.
